The Occupational Pension Schemes (Consequential and Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2015

Made - - - - ***
Laid before Parliament ***
Coming into force - - 6th April 2015

The Secretary of State for Work and Pensions makes the following Regulations in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 12C(1)(c), 71(6), 181(1), 182(2) and (3) and 183(1) of the Pension Schemes Act 1993(a) and sections 67(3)(b), 68(2)(e), 91(5)(c)(iii), 124(1), and 174(2) and (3) of the Pensions Act 1995(b).

By virtue of section 185(2)(d) of the Pension Schemes Act 1993(c) and section 120(2)(b) of the Pensions Act 1995 these Regulations were not subject to consultation, because in this case it appeared to the Secretary of State that by reason of urgency consultation was inexpedient.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations make amendments to secondary legislation in consequence of the Taxation of Pensions Act 2014 (“the 2014 Act”) and the Pension Schemes Act 2015 (“the 2015 Act”). The 2014 Act introduced new types of authorised payments by registered pension schemes, and amended conditions applying to some existing categories of authorised payments. Part 4 of the 2015 Act makes provisions consequential on, or connected with, the changes introduced by the 2014 Act.

Regulation 2 amends the Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991 (S.I. 1991/167). The amendment is consequential on the changes made by the 2014 Act. It ensures that an occupational pension scheme can provide a short service benefit (which is a benefit paid for a member whose pensionable service terminates before normal pension age) using one of the new types of authorised payment (an uncrystallised funds pension lump sum).

Regulation 3 amends regulation 20(1)(a) of the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996 (S.I. 1996/1172) consequential on the changes made by the 2014 Act. The amendment ensures that an occupational pension scheme which is, or has been, contracted-out since April 1997, can offer as a lump sum rather than a pension one of the new types of authorised payment (an uncrystallised funds pension lump sum) in respect of pension accrued since April 1997 when the scheme was contracted-out.

Regulation 4 amends the Occupational Pension Schemes (Assignment, Forfeiture, Bankruptcy etc.) Regulations 1997 (S.I. 1997/785) in consequence of the changes made by the 2014 Act. The amendment ensures that the prohibition on commutation of a pension under an occupational pension scheme does not apply to payment of an uncrystallised funds pension lump sum.

Regulation 5 amends the Occupational Pension Schemes (Modification of Schemes) Regulations 2006 (S.I. 2006/759) (“the Modification Regulations”). The amendment made by regulation 5(3) provides that statutory restrictions on the modification of subsisting rights under occupational pension schemes do not apply to a modification which enables members or their survivors to access new types of authorised payments by converting benefits into money purchase benefits. Regulation 5(4) inserts new regulation 8B into the Modification Regulations, providing a power for trustees to modify their scheme for the purpose of offering the new types of authorised payments. Consent of the scheme’s employer or employers is required for such a modification, and conditions may be placed in relation to accessing the new types of authorised payments.

Regulation 5(4) also inserts new regulation 8C, providing a power for trustees to modify their scheme to ensure that they are not required to make a transfer payment under the scheme rules if they are unable to carry out a check required by [clause 48] of the 2015 Act, or the check does not confirm that the person seeking the transfer has received appropriate independent advice.

No impact assessment has been prepared for this instrument as it does not impose costs on businesses, civil society or the public sector.
