Dear Sir David & Mr Stringer

Immigration and Social Security Co-ordination Bill

I am writing to correct a number I referenced during the debate on 5 March on New Clause 11 moved as an amendment to the Immigration and Social Security Co-ordination Bill.

In speaking about the Home Office evaluation of the 'Right to Rent' scheme, which was conducted in October 2015, I mentioned that there had been 550 responses to online surveys. The number of responses actually received by the Home Office was 539. The correct figure was subsequently included in my Written Ministerial Statement on the High Court's ruling on the Scheme, which was also laid on 5 March, but I wanted to write to clarify the matter.

I will place a copy of this letter in the House Libraries.

*Yours ever
Caroline*
