1. How would you characterise your engagement with the UK Government over Brexit, in particular through the Overseas Territories JMC on European Negotiations? Is the mechanism working effectively, and is the Government doing enough to represent your interests?

   Engagement with the UK government has been positive and supportive. Thus far there is every indication our interests are being protected. We are very much in the initial stages and we hope this initial engagement will translate into actions further down the track.

2. To what extent, if at all, are the Overseas Territories liaising with the EU institutions, Member States, and neighbouring (non-British) territories to communicate your concerns about Brexit?

   Pitcairn continues to work closely with the EU Institutions on funding and related matters. The writer was well received in meetings in Brussels last week. We have not discussed BREXIT with non-British OT’s.

3. What impact, if any, will Brexit have on the Overseas Territories’ future political, economic, constitutional and cultural relationship with the UK?

   Pitcairn as has been said before is trusting in the process in the hope HMG will honour its obligations to the OT’s.
