Written evidence from Lord Alton of Liverpool – RIS0002

While the present arrangements for the selection of subject matter prevails House Committee decisions appear opaque and give little confidence that outcomes are based on the merit of arguments. It might partially rectify this if the proceedings and votes cast at such meetings were transparent and published.

January 2018