I write to express my concern that abortion may be introduced in Northern Ireland against the wishes of the majority. The right to life is a given. Why should the unborn child be killed? Too often in Britain women have abortions, not for medical reasons but for social. So many women struggle with guilt and depression for years after abortion. Please do not take us down this route.

December 2018