I am writing to you as a resident in Northern Ireland to ask you not to change the laws in Northern Ireland in regards to abortion. I believe abortion is the murder of a human being and so it breaks the most fundamental of human rights, the right to life. These children are vulnerable and so the government and society have due care to look after their welfare. Most abortions would appear to be lifestyle choices and so I beg you, please protect the silent young who cannot defend themselves.
