I wish to express my support for Northern Ireland’s pro-life laws. I live in Northern Ireland and I am very concerned that abortion campaigners are trying to liberalise our laws.

I strongly disagree with abortion because an unborn baby is a human life and abortion denies that baby life. It is estimated that 100,000 lives have been preserved because of the laws we already have in Northern Ireland, and I really want this to continue.

It is also widely known that a huge majority of abortions are carried out for social reasons. In 2016, 98% of abortions in the United Kingdom were carried out for social reasons. This is totally unacceptable in my view and undermines the human rights of the most vulnerable, the unborn child.

I would like to thank you for reading my letter, I have friends in England and Scotland who had abortions and the pain and regret they feel is so difficult for them to cope with, this is truly an issue I feel strongly about.
