I am corresponding with your Committee in support of Northern Ireland’s Pro-Life Laws and want the existing law to be preserved.

I am against the legalised murder of babies in the womb as exists in the rest of the United Kingdom where there have been almost nine million abortions since the Abortion Act came into force back in 1967.

I would respectfully submit that when this legislation was first enacted those in favour of its introduction did not envisage that following years would see such a vast number of Abortions being carried out.

The fact that in 2016 ninety eight percent of abortions were carried out in Great Britain for social reasons shows how little protection is being afforded to the most vulnerable in our society.

I live in Northern Ireland and submit my views for favourable consideration by Committee members.
