I want to show my support for NI’s pro-life laws. I don’t believe the views of the majority of the people in Northern Ireland have changed over the years and I believe that there is no need to reform the law.

I have lived in Northern Ireland all my life and am encouraged to know that it has one of the most prolife legal frameworks in the world. I am very concerned to learn that 98% of abortions in Great Britain were carried out for social reasons and do not want this attitude to be considered acceptable in Northern Ireland.

My recent experience of my nephew’s little girl being born over 10 weeks early has opened my eyes to the immeasurable value of a foetus to parents and family and to all concerned and the right of every child to be allowed to grow and develop to its full potential. I believe that mother and child have equal right to life and that abortion should only be legal in circumstances where the woman’s life is in danger.
