Written submission from Clair Condell (ANI0449)

1) DEVOLUTION
The subject of abortion in Northern Ireland is one for the devolved government to decide and not Westminster. However, as the NI Assembly is temporarily suspended, the consultation and any further action should wait as it would be highly inappropriate to interfere on such a sensitive matter.

2) DISTINCTIVE LAW AND CULTURE

3) HUMAN RIGHTS & EQUALITY
Someone needs to defend the rights of the unborn child. Who is going to protect these precious little ones who can't speak for themselves? Shame on any government that allows the killing of the most vulnerable (the child in the womb) never mind celebrates such. Pro-abortion lobbies need to stop hiding the physical pain that these babies suffer and the mental suffering of the mothers for years to come.
