1) DEVOLUTION
Northern Ireland, whilst part of the U.K, is still a country in its own right. We have a government in Stormont & we are allowed to make our own decisions using that.

2) DISTINCTIVE LAW AND CULTURE
If we allow abortion in this country, I truly believe that shows that we also agree with discrimination on the basis of disability, sex or social status.

3) HUMAN RIGHTS & EQUALITY
It is clear that abortion also holds women back & allows them to be controlled. For example, many people have come forward to say that they have been forced into an abortion by their parents or father of the baby. This can cause irreparable mental and physical damage. Furthermore, it is clear that some view abortion as a method of contraception, even though it is an abortifacient, meaning that many people are putting themselves and their partner at risk of Sexually Transmitted Infections & unwanted pregnancies.
