1) DEVOLUTION
Westminster should not be railroading legislation through which has been devolved, just because the NI Assembly is not currently operative. The majority of people and the majority of women in Northern Ireland want this to remain a devolved issue. There is NO NI representation on the Women and equalities Committee.

2) DISTINCTIVE LAW AND CULTURE
Abortion is removing a human life. In Northern Ireland we must hold a higher standard for the sanctity of human life as the majority of people does not want this legislation. The current abortion law has saved over 100000 lives as validated by the ASA when pro abortionists tried to have advertising to that effect, removed. The law in NI protects the rights of disabled children who would otherwise be aborted. This is equality. Disability is not a reason to be put to death. What culture would consider this acceptable?

3) HUMAN RIGHTS & EQUALITY
Science. Cold factual science says that life - human life - begins at conception. What rights do these human beings in the womb have, if we start to relegate their rights as not as important as anyone else's. The child may grow in the woman's body but that does not give that woman the right to end another human being's life - because it's not convenient, or to make an excuse that it is for a mental health benefit which is at best debatable.

It is morally wrong, wrong, wrong to try to make abortion more available. What has society become that Westminster wants to force this moral bankruptcy on a majority of people who do not want it.

Who speaks for the right of the human beings that are put to death? This legislation is disgusting. Utterly disgusting.
