1) DEVOLUTION
This is a devolved issue and Westminster should not be allowed to interfere in the democratic decisions of Stormont.
No one on your committee even represents a seat in Northern Ireland so where is your mandate for the changes that you want to introduce.
No mainstream party (to the best of my knowledge) in Northern Ireland stood at any election on a pro-abortion stance therefore there is no mandate to introduce this change.
The majority of people in recent polls believe that these decisions should be taken by the administration in Northern Ireland and you should not be attempting to take advantage of the current lack of government in Northern Ireland to push through your agenda.
The right to life is enshrined in international law.

2) DISTINCTIVE LAW AND CULTURE
The right to life is enshrined in international law and you should not be attempting to impose this nazi-like genocide law on the people of Northern Ireland. Persons with certain disabilities such as Down’s syndrome will be wiped out if you get your way in this.

3) HUMAN RIGHTS & EQUALITY
I fail to see how giving a woman the right to murder her unborn child is any different than murdering it after birth or any time in the future when she decides to tire of it.
This is not an equality issue for women but is instead an equality issue for the unborn life that she has the privilege to carry.
