1) DEVOLUTION
Despite the ongoing suspension of the NI Assembly at Stormont, the matter of abortion is a devolved issue which should be considered by local politicians representing the local community and the wishes of this community

2) DISTINCTIVE LAW AND CULTURE
The culture in Northern Ireland is inherently more respecting of the right to life before birth, and of the right of that person to continue to live after birth. As a community, we need to balance that with the need to care for the mother of that child and to help her through what can be a difficult and challenging time for some. Organisations exist to help and support in this very situation.
