1) DEVOLUTION
In spite of the sad position of the Northern Ireland Government, I believe that the decision of whether to provide abortions for women in NI should be made by our own electorate and not by Westminster.

2) DISTINCTIVE LAW AND CULTURE
It is true to say that many people here are alive because the law prevented them from being aborted in the womb. Whether these people have a disability does not have a bearing upon their value as human beings.

3) HUMAN RIGHTS & EQUALITY
The rights of the unborn child are as much of value as those of the mother. Neither size, location nor stage of development makes one person of more value than another.
