Written submission from Michael Giles (WHC0014)

To ensure equal male and female representation in parliament, halve the number of constituencies (i.e. doubled in size) then elect one male and one female MP for each area, thus maintaining the number of MPs overall.

August 2016