Introduction

Public Bodies 2007 provides a summary of the non-departmental public body (NDPB) sector as at 31 March 2007. It also provides statistical information on the number and diversity of public appointments.

What is Public Bodies?

Public Bodies has been published annually by the Cabinet Office since 1980 and provides a consistent measure on the size, spend and membership of the NDPB sector. Public Bodies also provides statistical information on those appointed to the boards of NDPBs and to other national public bodies. The information in Public Bodies 2007 covers NDPBs sponsored by UK Government Departments and public appointments made to UK public bodies. Information on public bodies and public appointments in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland is a matter for the devolved administrations.

Unlike earlier editions of Public Bodies, Public Bodies 2007 does not contain detailed information on each public body. Each Government Department now publishes information on their own public bodies on an annual basis. The Cabinet Office will, however, continue to publish an annual report containing headline statistics on NDPBs and public appointments. Public Bodies 2007 is the first of these.

What is a NDPB?

An NDPB is defined as a “body which has a role in the processes of national Government, but is not a Government Department or part of one, and which accordingly operates to a greater or lesser extent at arm’s length from Ministers”.

There are four types of NDPB:

- Executive NDPBs – typically established in statute and carrying out executive, administrative, regulatory and/or commercial functions. Examples include the Environment Agency, Regional Development Agencies and our national museums and galleries;
- Advisory NDPBs – provide independent, expert advice to Ministers on a wide range of issues. Examples include the Low Pay Commission and the Committee on Standards in Public Life;

- Tribunal NDPBs – have jurisdiction in a specialised field of law. Examples include Employment Tribunals; and
- Independent Monitoring Boards of Prisons, Immigration Removal Centres and Immigration Holding Rooms – formerly known as Boards of Visitors, these are independent “watchdogs” of the prison system. Their duty is to satisfy themselves as to the state of prison and certain immigration premises, their administration and the treatment of prisoners.

Summary

Non-Departmental Public Bodies (NDPBs)

Numbers

As at 31 March 2007, there were 827 NDPBs sponsored by the UK Government. This includes 203 Executive NDPBs, 441 Advisory NDPBs, 34 Tribunal NDPBs and 149 Independent Monitoring Boards of Prisons, Immigration Removal Centres and Immigration Holding Rooms.

This compares to 835 NDPBs in 2006. Since 1997, the total number of NDPBs has fallen by 40 (4.5%). The Government keeps the need for existing bodies under close review. New NDPBs are only set up when it can be clearly demonstrated that the NDPB model is the most efficient and effective model to deliver the function in question.

More information on the number of NDPBs, including a breakdown by Government Department, is provided in Table 1. A list of all NDPBs as at 31 March 2007 is attached at Annex A.

Staffing

As at 31 March 2007, there were just over 95,000 people employed by Executive NDPBs. With the exception of the Health and Safety Commission, the Health and Safety Executive and ACAS (the Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service), all Executive NDPBs are non-Crown bodies. As such, staff are not civil servants. More details are provided in Table 2.

Advisory and Tribunal NDPBs, and Independent Monitoring Boards, rarely employ their own staff. They are usually supported by civil servants from the sponsoring Government Department.

Expenditure

In 2006/07, total expenditure by Executive NDPBs was over £37bn. Of this, around £31bn was funded directly by Government. The remainder was financed through a combination of fees and charges, levies and other sources of funding (such as National Lottery or EU grants). A breakdown of expenditure by Government Department is provided in Table 3.

Advisory and Tribunal NDPBs, and Independent Monitoring Boards, rarely generate their own expenditure. They are usually supported, and resourced, by their sponsoring Department.

Public Appointments

Numbers

For the purposes of Public Bodies 2007, public appointments are appointments (usually made by a Minister or by The Queen on the advice of a Minister) to the boards of national public bodies. This includes NDPBs, NHS bodies and key national public corporations.

As at 31 March 2007, there were over 18,500 men and women appointed to the boards of 1,219 public bodies. This comprises all 827 NDPBs, 368 NHS bodies (i.e. Primary Care Trusts, NHS Trusts, Strategic Health Authorities and other NHS bodies) and 24 key, national public corporations.

Merit

Appointments made by Ministers to the boards of executive and advisory NDPBs, NHS bodies and key national public corporations are made in line with the Code of Practice issued by the Commissioner for Public Appointments. The Code requires a fair and open process, delivers independent scrutiny and ensures that appointments are made on merit. The Commissioner for Public Appointments, Janet Gaymer CBE, is responsible for monitoring the Code and reports annually on public appointments made under the Code.

Diversity

The Government is committed to improving diversity on the boards of public bodies. The overall aim is to secure equal representation of men and women, pro rata representation of members of ethnic minority groups and increased participation of disabled people.

As at 31 March 2007:

- 34.4% of all public appointments were held by women;
- 5.7% of all public appointments were held by members of minority ethnic groups. Of these around 40% were women; and
- 4.9% of all public appointments were held by disabled people. Of these around 40% were women.

Tables 4, 5 and 6 provide more detail.

1. On 28 June 2007, responsibility for better regulation transferred to the Department of Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR). A number of related public bodies also transferred.

2. On 12 October 2007, responsibility for equality transferred from DCLG to the new Government Equalities Office. A number of related public bodies also transferred.

3. On 9 May 2007, the responsibilities of DCA transferred to the new Ministry of Justice (MOJ). MOJ also took over a range of responsibilities from the Home Office. MOJ now sponsors former DCA public bodies and a number of former Home Office public bodies.

4. On 28 June 2007, responsibility for children and young people, youth and family policy and pre-19 education transferred to the new Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF). Responsibility for higher and further education transferred to the new Department of Innovation, Universities and Skills (DIUS). Former DfES bodies are now shared between DCSF and DIUS.

5. On 28 June 2007, DTI responsibility for business and enterprise transferred to BERR. DTI responsibility for science and innovation transferred to DIUS. Former DTI sponsored public bodies are now shared between BERR and DIUS.

1. The number of appointments made by Ministers to OCPA regulated posts was 263. Of these, 105 (39.9%) were women.

2. Due to a change in the sponsorship of Tribunal NDPBs, data on Tribunal membership is still being collated. Figures therefore include some 2006 data.

3. Includes Ministerial appointments to DH NDPBs, Primary Care Trusts, NHS Trusts, Strategic Health Authorities and other NHS bodies. Excludes Special Health Authorities (SpHAs), which are established by secondary legislation. There are currently 10 SpHAs employing over 9,000 staff.

4. In April 2006, responsibility for the Employment Appeal Tribunal and Employment Tribunals transferred from DTI to the Department for Constitutional Affairs. At the time, there were over 2,000 members on the boards of these Tribunals – including a large number of women and ethnic minority members. Loss of these appointments has had a significant impact on DTI (now BERR) figures.
